Strange Fruit Found

Recent developments have been made, resulting in quite a scare. A bystander had this to say, "I thought it was just a myth. I never thought it would happen to me." The strange fruit was found hanging in the courtyard from a tree. Scientists are still unsure how to act. Local authorities have suggested this may have resulted from the recent radioactive dumps on the school and is only temporary. The faculty is working hard to remove the fruit from the tree. However, there have been minor complications. When one student attempted to eat the fruit, strange red liquid leaked out. Apparently the red fruit is toxic to humans, as the student is now in the hospital. Also, the oddity screeches uncontrollably when the chainsaws are pulled out. The noise may be a defense mechanism to its natural predators. The shrieks are capable of leveling city blocks and incapacitated three of our finest emergency response members. According to some speculators, the fruit may have been placed by aliens. They feel that the fruit has some commonalities with humans, however, scientists are cautioning us that these people are insane. They claim that aliens don't exist and that this fruit is a gift from the Great Seth.

As we approached the eleventh-seventh hour of this investigation, the fruit began to move. Some bystanders were able to make out what it was 'saying'. "What the heck are you guys doing? I was just taking a nap." The team on hand has cautioned us that this is a ploy for the plant to escape. "We can't let up. We just can't," this was a response from a man putting landmines around the tree's base. "If we look away even for a second, just a second, it might try to run. The Great Seth wouldn't like it if we let his precious gift to get away. He puts things on this planet for one reason, and one reason only, for us to eat it." Those are truly words to live by. These devout Sethists are making a stand for what they believe in. Efforts will continue to be made as we leave with this quote from Seth, "What?".

The Danger Zone

Recently and unknown force snuck onto school campus during a weekend. They dug up the concrete, placed landmines underneath it, and gently put everything exactly where they had found it, leaving none the wiser. However the faculty quickly found out once a heavily mutilated student wandered into the nurse's office. He was not sent home for the day. For reasons unknown the the mines are only active during both lunch hours. Since none of the staff are bomb technicians, except Mr. Butler who recently left the school, the problem is still very much at large. Be careful and be sure not to cross the cones for it could result in death, or worse, suspension.

The Faculty are trying their absolute hardest to solve this problem. But in the mean time, they decided to make the best of the situation. They refuse to admit so though, saying they "put us in a small place to keep us safe." This is an example that we are not being told the complete truth. Students complain "Why is half of the campus blocked off if it's just the buildings that we can't go in?" The answer is that the mines are occupying that half of the campus, the area is unsafe.

Mr. Yee is trying to organize a MineSweeper squad to eliminate the explosive. He has gained his technique from the actual game Mine Sweeper that many use to just kill time. "In the game, I believe if you concentrate enough you are capable to determine where all the mines are with minimal casualties.

I think the same tactic can be applied in our situation." Yee is making a tremendous effort to build this task force. He is gathering only the absolute best minesweepers he can find in his neighborhood.

The land mines are extremely sensitive and are at placed at random locations in the "danger zones". If you were to step on one, they others would go off in a chain reaction and demolish the entire school. Once that would happen, all building would be destroyed. The buildings would create a perimeter of unclimbable rubble. You could call the police or fire department or police but they can't climb either can they? Then you would have to raid the student store for food and eventually start eating each other. Then once there's one person left, they would have to slowly eat themselves until they inevitably die. If you want to avoid a cannibalistic apocalypse at school, don't cross over the cones.

creatures are nearly dwarfish. Their average height is barely above the three feet mark. Also their features are miniscule, especially their eyes. It is still unknown whether or not they are capable of breeding with actual humans.

We could not reach Seth for a comment about these revelations. Although, a student had this to say before being executed. "They are real! I've seen them! Please don't do this!" The staff here at Sethwest has been working hard to weed these troublemakers out. After the student

Asians still a myth

SETHWEST SHADOW

-Following you everywhere

Recent people called "scientists" have claimed that a race of Asians have been spotted near Sethwest CTA. However, most people feel this is a hoax, created to profit. These "scientists" have tried to convince us with research and statistics, but the population has stayed smart. They have chosen to believe these mythical creatures are just that, a myth. The main population of our great school still remains 98% Sethans and 2% dead other guys who refused to believe they were Sethan. The jury is still out on this pressing issue, but locals believe that these frauds will be found out soon enough. When interviewed Brandon Hatch had this to say, "What do you mean they believe there are 'Asians' on campus? Who do they think they are? The Great Seth? No they're just plain crazy." This statement seems to reflect the majority's opinion on the issue.

However, there are some speculations saying this new race might be a science experiment gone wrong. Some theories say that these people are almost an entirely new species of animals. They enjoy eating a strange plant from the ground, and become violently ill if they eat anything else. Recent rumors say the plant is a white grain and is consumed by the pound. The ill reaction may be a violent reaction to nutrition. Also according to recent speculation, these seriously considering voting Seth as Mayor, Congressman, Sheriff, Constable, Deputy, and Vice Mayor. The city loved so Seth so much that they decided five roles was not enough, so they invented the position of Vice Mayor. The position has absolutely no power and is pointless, but now Seth is a man of six hats and not just five. That is what is important. "What" said Seth.

Seth is now living comfortably as Supreme Ruler over the entire student body. He now has health care benefits and a modest monthly salary of $170,000. Not only that but he now has such a good reputation

Seth Scoville Wins School Elections Involuntarily.

-Following you everywhere

Despite the other students' best efforts, they were completely ignored by the student body. Although Scoville was not a candidate and never planned on being one, every student agreed it would be best if he was in charge of each position. He was elected Treasurer, DA Senator, PA Senator, President, and Vice President of all four grades. "What the deuce?" said Scoville. "I don't even have time to do this. I'm taking all AP classes next year. How am I supposed to take care of all this?". He refused the offer at first, but the student body soon made it clear that this was not an offer, but a demand. Unknown students kidnapped Scoville and brought him to a parking garage at night. They were extremely persistent and intimidating, yet were polite and ended up convincing Seth he was the right man for the Jobs.

Seth later went on in his life to become an actor and philanthropist. He starred in movies such as Die Hard 8, Star Wars 10, and wrote, directed, and starred in his original masterpiece: Seth Is Us. Despite hitting the time in the film industry, he still used his same quite, monotone voice. "It keeps me to my roots" he said. He soon became the spokesperson for Dos Equis, also known as The Most Interesting Man In The World. Dos Equis thought that this was an understatement at best compared to Seth and hired him immediately. He came up with his own awkward and confusing commercials, saying things like "I once arm wrestled a really strong dude and won."

Seth's fame and reliability has sparked interest in the townsfolk. Many are that he attends college parties at UNLV. At said parties he does partake in illegal acts such as under aged drinking and consumption of narcotics, but whenever the police arrive, he is pardoned immediately. He owns twelve Bugatti Veyrons all in the same color and exactly the same as the last. He lives in "a totally dope penthouse" on the strip.

In his later years he won 17 Nobel Peace Prizes for solving all war in the world. He now rests as Master Of The Universe. His actions sparked a cult following called "Sethism" that quickly became the religion of literally the entire world. Praise Seth, and Remember: He's always watching you.

one and only divine reason for this win was not done through the believe in the heavens or God, but was instead due to our limitless devotion to our lord and savior, the Great Seth!" the then stood from their seat and started chanting 'SETH' over and over without rest. The captain was peacefully kidnapped and taken to a training camp.

A week after the interview the captain, who returned from his week long training, decided on his own to retire and to instead spend the rest of his remaining days worshipping the Great Seth. When asked why

Rommel Leads Twerk Team to Victory

The Sethwest CTA twerk team, Swiggity Swag, lead the school to victory after a long and gruesome competition with rivals moorehigh. With the competition lasting three weeks, suspense was high as the final score of 356 to 2 was announced. The crowd went wild as the judges announced the Sethwest CTA team as the winners of 2014's twerk nationals. After their win we went up to the team and asked them what was on their minds the captain, Rommel...something, was quoted saying "face down booty up, the declined twerk. That's how we won, sway." as he twerked on the reporter. "The reason for our win was due to our believe in God and heavens above, it was not because of Set..." said delusional captain Rommel, but before he could finish his sentence was viciously and righteously slapped by our reporter. The reporter then took the mic and said "Our great lord and savior Seth has brought this team a righteous and glorious victory. The heavens did nothing for in helping with this win, for the he decided to retire after only one win he said "Seth is our lord, Seth is our savior, Seth is our...our EVERYTHING!" Rommel then ran wailing his arms shouting the said comment repeatedly. As for the Sethwest CTA twerk team, the ending could not of been better, it was put under new leadership and renamed The Seths. "This new team is without a doubt winners, they will surely win every competition from here on out." said military general. With a new name and captain, the Sethwest CTA twerk team is surely going to our school to many victories to come.

when teachers gave in the students demands and said that they would install the rice chefs in the cafeteria, this brought joy to the hearts of many within Sethwest CTA and ended the seven minute long roit . With paper signed and hands shaken everything was settled. To think that this great movement could only of happened thanks to one courageous young child, which is still currently missing.

Rice or else!

During lunch of last week an asian boy was found not eating the rice his mother made for him. When threatened he said "NOOO! Dont, I just got back in the house! Please dont tell my mom!". After said comment the young boy was rightfully ignored and told on to his mother. "I don't know what to say", said the mother in a thick asian accent as she dragged the young boy by his ear. The boy was then reported missing leading many to think "Oh the poor mother" Of course this caused many students, mainly of asian descent, to start eating rice more frequently during lunch in fear of them possibly being found out by their parents. The fear has in fact caused some students to bring in rice cookers and then taking pictures of themselves to prove to their parents that they indeed eat rice for lunch. The students that cannot bring in rice cookers to school had to instead ask if the school would allow there to be one in the cafeteria for everyone in the school to use.

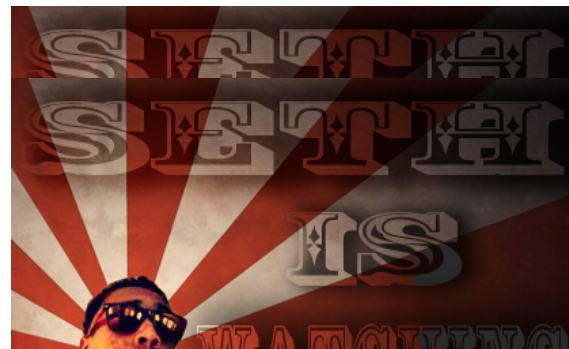

Surprisingly much of the teachers disapproved the idea and are rejecting the students "Rice, cause its nice" movement. This caused a large uproar within the student body and very quickly escalated to a riot. The damage from the riot was plentiful; tables were turn slightly to either the right or left, chairs were moved, chips on the windows numbered in the tens, 72 deaths, and worst of all several trays laid on the ground with food littering the floors. It was said to be the largest riot in the Sethwest CTA history, only beating last weeks riots, which was caused when the cafeteria running out of tater tots, but four trays.

Thankfully the riot were put to a halt
